Background

Raymond came to us in February 2004. He had dropped out of school and was spending his time helping out at a local lion dance troupe. Raymond lives with his parents, 2 elder sisters and an elder brother.

His father is recovering from an accident and is unable to work. Hence, his mother and 2 teenage sisters help to support the family. Since Raymond joined us, we have been working hard to get him to go back to school.

The other children in the Programme also help to encourage him by telling him about all the fun things they do in school. So, very recently we had a break-through when Raymond finally agreed to return to school.

Raymond is a warm and intelligent boy. With the proper guidance, he can do well in school.

Challenges He Faces

- Although Raymond has agreed to go to school, he is still very anxious and he must keep up his efforts to remain in school.

Our Plan for Raymond

- To help him integrate back into the educational mainstream and do well in his studies.
